General customer information about the REACH Directive EC 1907/2006

Dear Sir/Madam,

Friedrich Lütze GmbH, of course abides by all national and international laws, directives, standards and regulations applicable to its products. With respect to REACH in particular, this means the following for our customers:

1. Friedrich Lütze GmbH has no duty to register materials (also in products) within the meaning of REACH.
2. We continuously track amendments and supplements to Annex XIV (list of substances requiring approval), Annex XVII (restriction of certain hazardous substances, mixtures and products) and the so-called list of candidates, pursuant to Art. 59 No. 1 REACH with so-called 'substances of very high concern' (SVHCs)
3. Within the meaning of the Directive, we are a manufacturer of products and assume the role of the downstream user. As such, we ensure the information flow along the supply chain. Our suppliers of substances and mixes have a duty to give us safety data sheets in such cases pursuant to Art. 31 REACH, and to provide us with information about other cases, pursuant to Art. 32 REACH that are connected to substances requiring approval (Annex XIV of REACH) or application restrictions (Annex XVII of REACH); in doing so, the supplier must comply with the substance prohibitions and declaration duties pursuant to REACH. In this way, we ensure that the supplied parts meet our requirements.
4. At this time there is nothing to indicate that our products contain any substances of very high concern above the limit values. If there are any substances of very high concern in our products above the limit value of 0.1 percent by mass, we will voluntarily meet our information duties pursuant to Art 33 REACH. This also includes and future changes to the list of candidates (Art. 59 Section 1 REACH).
